

The Poets' Pathway
Le Parcours des poètes
presents/présente

POEMES AU COUCHANT

SUNSET AT POET'S HILL

“When the evening is spread out against the sky” - T.S. Eliot

A reading of their own works, in English or in French by
Henry Beissel, Andrée Lacelle, Susan McMaster
Diane Schmolka, Michel A. Thérien, Nancy Vickers

Sept 28, 2012 6pm.

On Poet's Hill, in Beechwood Cemetery
The hill is on the left, close to the entrance at 280 Beechwood Avenue.

Followed by a gathering for chat, and something to eat, at
The Clock Tower Brew Pub, 422 McKay Street at Beechwood

Parking on the street and in the parking lot behind the pub

Bring a lawn chair or something to sit on, and warm clothing if it's cool.
The building inside Beechwood Cemetery will be closed – i.e. no washroom!

For more information, www.poetspathway.ca, or 613 723 6196

